ITALY THREATENS TO BOYCOTT RWC

Italy is apparently threatening to boycott the World Cup as a protest against a playing schedule that it felt was too rigorous. Italy (Pool D) plays its four matches over 14 days, while New Zealand has 22 days, Wales has 21 and Canada has 17. The ARU says Italy's tight scheduling was a result of the team not needing extra rest days. Teams that travel are given extra time between matches. The ARU feels that Italy, playing three of its four opening matches in Canberra, doesn't need as much time between games to recover from travel. The last team in the group, Tonga, also has 14 days to play its games.

RWC TICKETS

RWC tickets went on sale this month as part of the ARU's "second chance offer" to the 70,000 people who missed out in last year's initial ticket offer. 13,000 of the 14,000 tickets available for two pool matches in Adelaide have been sold, with 70 percent of those tickets being purchased by South Australians. World Cup head of marketing Shane Harmon says this is astonishing considering that there never has been a rugby test in Adelaide. The second chance offer closed on April 18 with general ticket sales available in July.

SUPER 13? SUPER 14?

Australia and South Africa are in discussions to enter a joint team in the Super 12 competition. If successful, the team would be made up of players from both countries. The joint venture would be based in Perth, playing in a Super 13 or Super 14 tournament from 2006. The ARU is also still pushing for a fourth Super 12 team of its own by season 2005 or 2006 – which until now has been blocked by New Zealand opposition. Currently New Zealand has five Super 12 teams, South Africa four and Australia three.

FRANCE TO HOST 2007 WORLD CUP

France has beaten England by 18-3 in a vote of the IRB council to win the right to host the 2007 Rugby World Cup. England's favoured option was for a June/July 16-team tournament with a 32 Nations Cup for lesser sides running in parallel. That proposal was rejected and France's more conventional 20-team 48-match event was accepted. It will run from 7 September to 20 October 2007

WORLD CUP REPECHAGE

Tonga and the USA have won their place in the RWC. Tonga defeated Korea in two games by 119-0 and 75-0 to join New Zealand, Wales, Italy and Canada in Pool D. The USA beat Spain by 62-13 and 58-13. Spain never looked likely, taking a weakened side into the second game. The USA fill the last spot in Pool B with France, Scotland, Fiji and Japan.

SCRUMBAG

Congratulations to James Bradley for winning a University Blue in rugby!

Congratulations to Dwayne "Robbo" Robertson and Kristy Shires who have recently had a baby - Cooper Waugh Robertson (named after Steve, we believe). He weighed in at 4.1 kg. Andrea Finn is in the same Army Office as Robbo in Darwin, and reported back the happy news.

The University Pirates RUFC in Darwin have had stolen from their clubhouse an autographed (by the whole team) Wallaby jumper from the 1999 Rugby World Cup and an autographed All Black one also from the RWC99. A reward of $500 is offered for any information leading to the safe recovery of these items. Someone may try to offload it in NSW or Qld as it has been widely publicised in Darwin. Please contact Vice Chairman Matt Grooby on 0402 338 793 or 08 8999 3844 or email pirates@ntu.edu.au. Their website is at <http://www.unipirates.com.au>

OBITUARY - LEN PERKINS

Len Perkins, who rebuilt the Club after its recess during World War II, died suddenly at his home on Friday 28 March 2003. He was 77 years old.

Len was introduced to rugby by fellow life member David Rogers in 1944 when David played for West Torrens. At the end of his first season, Len set about rejuvenating the dormant Prince Alfred Old Collegians Rugby Club by rounding up former Australian Rules playing school friends. Their standard was awful, but improved season by season as experienced players returned from the war. In 1948 Len captained a team which would have matched the standard of any premiership side since. During his playing days Len was the first winner of the Rugby Union's Don Smith War Memorial Trophy in 1946, and went on to play for the state.

Len had to leave South Australia in the 1950's for a lengthy training period at General Motors in Flint, Michigan, and later as a qualified engineer became the manager of vehicle assembly operations for South and Western Australia of General Motors Holden.

His two sons are well known to Old Collegians. Ben left the club to make his mark in Queensland's rugby community and is currently the kicking coach for the Wallabies. Jamie was a fast and determined winger who has given time as a club official. Len was a man of honour who set a high standard for the club. He is survived by his wife Kathleen, his two sons and two daughters, to whom we extend our heartfelt condolences.

More information about Len is available on the website, <http://www.oldcollegiansrugby.org.au/history/gallery/lenperkins.shtml>

Some of our OC boys have been serving in Iraq during the recent war, including Sandy Taylor and David Pack. All politics aside, we're thinking of you, boys. Come home safe.

In recent weeks, a rugby player who displayed his naked buttocks to a woman motorist near Queenstown NZ was hospitalised with pelvic and hip injuries. A busload of two Wakatipu rugby club teams were returning from an away game at Omakau when some of them decided to make a naked dash across the Kawarau Bridge. Unfortunately one player stopped to moon a car on the way back across the bridge, and the car hit him. Could never happen here ...

In lieu of the Crocs' 2002 weekly award of the yellow shirt of shame, each week this year a poor unfortunate is required to look after the Crocs' new mascot, "Master Bates" the Cock. New to OC's this year, and playing in the 4th's, Hugh Armstrong wasted no time seducing their mascot with a "Business" junket to a sunny QLD resort.

The Frocs also have a team talisman for 2003, which is tied to their first aid kit. It was acquired by Kim Evans on her recent jaunt to Hong Kong to watch the Rugby Sevens. Those of you familiar with feng shui will know that the Chinese believe that certain types of images/objects can effect your luck. For example, fish attract wealth, peaches bring long life and dragons provide protection. God only knows what a Cucumber promises. The Frocs are encouraged to rub the Lucky Cucumber before their games and Kim is claiming success after the good efforts of their trial match. Before your imaginations get carried away, the actual size of the Lucky Cucumber is about 4cm.

There have always been frequently heard complaints about the standards of referees at every level of the game, from the Under 8s to the Super 12s. For example, you can often hear the heavies from the front row suggesting that a man who has never been in scrum cannot purport to judge one. One call from a recent third grade game suggests that some referees are quite happy to accept this. The referee in question, after a number of collapsed scrums, admitted to the two packs that he really didn't know what was going wrong. He suggested that seeing as they'd all being scrummaging for years they must know what they were doing wrong, and instructed them to sort it out themselves. What a pearler!

The 60's night at the club, to promote Stones Ginger Beer, was a great success. Thanks to Emma Curran, the club's wonderful new Social Director, for her efforts. A number of the usual faithfuls donned wigs, beads and bad shirts in honour of the theme. Graham Raymond deserves a particular mention, for not only dressing up like a 60s pimp (complete with bad moustache) but also for going to the Mars Bar later that night in the same clothes. Dean Bradley showed up in a jacket that camouflaged well with the sofa (we hear it was his dad's ...). Bottles of Stones Ginger Beer (the Crocs' new sponsor) went down well and in great numbers. Like the Bundy promotion last year, everyone had good fun but no one is entirely clear on the details ...

Speaking of the Mars Bar – which Croc has been seen parading up and down the stage in his underwear, with his belly proudly extended for the edification of the crowd?

It may sound unlikely, but it turns out that in a previous life our first grade captain, Christian Tedge, represented South Australia as a teenage roller-blader. There was lycra involved. Seriously. We leave your fertile imaginations to fill in the details. Subsequent to discovering these unknown depths to Tedgie, someone (who shall remain nameless) has taken liberties with a photo of Tedgie from the last edition of Trogenza Times and pinned it to the notice board in the club. It is reproduced to the left. SuperTedge!

Speaking of SuperTedge, both he and Ben Hamer won a slab of beer from Ted Apted recently by winning a bet that they couldn't kick the ball through the posts from behind the half way line. Oh, Ted – have ye no faith?

The upsets of the 10th round have unseated Candice Daniel who was top of the tipping ladder for most of the season. Candice forgot to put her tips in, and the Footy Tips rules only awarded her points for "away" wins. Unfortunately for Candice, all the home teams won and she scored 0/5! Imogen Hume and Richard Jasko are now the joint leaders of the tipping ladder, with 36 correct tips each as of 27th April 2003. Two more rounds – who'll win the slab?!

Congratulations to Paul "Kaboom" McFadden and the incredibly gorgeous Cherie who are engaged to be married. Apparently the big day is scheduled for some time perilously close to finals ...

DIVISION 1

The Club has had a slow start, but things are starting to come together. Christian Tedge was appointed Captain of the 1sts and Rob Porteous of the 2nds. Fitness levels have shown a significant improvement as has ball handling and forward play. If the firsts can keep the improvements going, they have probably lost their last game! The danger now is complacency drifting in - which we must guard against. We need to remind ourselves constantly that only the top four teams go through to the finals.

Neil Bradley, Director of Rugby

5 APRIL 2003 - BRIGHTON 47 v OLD COLLEGIANS 10

Summer's over let's go to Brighton on a balmy autumn afternoon and get the rugby competition off to a dream start by thrashing the local side. Promising signs of this happening existed during the first eight minutes of the match played on 5th April, but reality set in for the remainder of the game as Brighton shifted through the gears into cruise mode to crush our Firsts by eight tries to one. The first try came when Brighton gained possession inside our quarter, worked the ball down field through sequent phase wins and, in the final move, found the extra man out wide. They scored their second by ripping a ragged defence and slipping through wide gaps. A penalty goal put them further ahead before we got our first score, which was a penalty goal, kicked by Juan Aguiar. Brighton passed the ball around quickly, giving themselves plenty of time to set up their next try. Collegians' main means of gaining the ball were from set scrums and turning over possession in tackles.

When we were quick enough with our passing and skilful enough to retain the ball at the breakdown, we looked good, and when we've honed our skills we'll be a strong force in the competition. Juan provided a highlight of the match when he beat defenders then kicked ahead and chased the ball before grounding it for our only try, which he converted. Brighton scored a further five tries in a good team performance that combined speed, good backing up and safe handling. Collegians tried hard, but struggled to gain enough usable possession to drive forward and create chances to force gaps upon which to capitalise. Our efforts in the lineouts gave disappointing results until late in the match. Ben Hamer, Christian Tedge and Dean Bradley were among the best players.

12 APRIL 2003 – OLD COLLEGIANS 15 v ONKAPARINGA 19

The Firsts struggled dourly against Onkaparinga at Tregenza on 12th April but were unable lead at any stage of the match and eventually lost by four points. Colls held possession in the first few phases, but the Onkas forwards then took control of play, drove ahead strongly in the mauls, giving Colls few chances to regroup and counter the attacks. Onkas half-five eighth pair was nippy and tried to keep the momentum going. Our defence withstood the onslaught well, with some solid tackling and tight field play. All of Onkaparinga's scores in the first half came from penalties – two goals and a try after a tap kick taken close to the goal line. We turned the tide late in the term and produced a fine spell of attacking play inside Onkas quarter. Our outside backs got usable possession at this stage and pressed hard.

This trend of play continued early in the second half and, despite windy, wet and greasy conditions we had some good runs. Yet, Onkas increased their lead, when they chased a loose ball down the touchline and grounded it in the corner. Juan Aguiar kicked a goal from a long penalty kick, which made the score 3-16. In general, we continued to play better than Onkas, but gave away possession at vital times just when we looked like scoring tries. Our lineout performance improved this week and the ball came slightly faster from the scrums. Colls scored two tries late in the match. One came after Dean Bradley had a long run and Richard Czeglik beat a couple of tackles to give us the chance to drive a maul over the line and one of our men grounded. Andy McDougall scored the other when he linked into the back line after a scrum-win and had a fast, strong run. We were one point behind now and showed every chance of winning. Another penalty kick, however, put paid to that notion; this time Onkas scored the goal from directly in front of the posts.

Andy McDougall was one of our best players. Onkas gave him plenty of ball catching to do and he showed good handling and running skills. Chris Walker and Paul McFadden contributed solidly in attack and defence. Christian Tedge and Richard Czeglik were among the other good players.

26 APRIL 2003 – PORT ADELAIDE 23 v OLD COLLEGIANS 12

At Port Adelaide Reserve on 26th April, our Firsts showed encouraging form in patches against last season's champions, but lost by 11 points after holding a one-point advantage late in the second half. Port held better territorial advantage than us early in the first half, without dominating proceedings. Although they had strong runners with good ball handling skills, they failed to penetrate our defence successfully on more than one occasion, this being when they shoved a maul over the line and grounded. Earlier, they had kicked a penalty goal. Overall, our defence was solid against forceful opposition.

Although our lineout play started faltering, we improved as the match wore on, although neither side was dominant. The ball came quite well through the scrums, while in mauls and rucks; we showed improvement over the previous game. Ben Hamer, Craig DeCarle and Christian Tedge did good things in the forward ranks. In attack, our ball handling and passing was of mixed quality, but we gave Dean Bradley and Juan Aguiar opportunities to produce an infiltrating run each. Then just before half time we came close to scoring tries on two more occasions.

We continued to improve in the second half and did most of the attacking; matching Port's vigorous play. Andy McDougall had another fine game; with one of his runs culminating in a corner try. We had a setback when Port kicked a penalty goal, however we surged onward when Paul McFadden received the ball while he was on the run in a set piece, and charged through the withering Port defence to score an excellent try. Juan's conversion gave us a one-point lead very late in the match. The Port outside backs took advantage of our slowness in reacting to danger when they spun the ball wide to go over in the corner, and then in a similar move went over again - this time, after passing to the player inside. Two quick tries, and we had lost the match.

DIVISION 2

5 APRIL 2003 – BRIGHTON 18 v OLD COLLEGIANS 12

This was not a very inspiring performance by OC's, with hamstring injuries decimating our backline. We hauled the score back to 13-12 with about ten minutes to go but some loose tackling by OC's and well recycled ball by Brighton saw them through for the game-clinching try. Honourable mentions go to Joel 'Mullet' Fudali (for pulling his hammy during the pre-match warm up, even though no one actually saw him warming up...), Matt the winger (who scored a fantastic 80m intercept run-away try in his first ever game of rugby, chased by 3 Brighton players and no OC support - and pulled his hammy) and Graham

Raymond (who had to leave the field shortly after the start of the second half with... a sore hamstring. That's his story anyway - rumour has it he just wanted a beer.) Thanks to the Crocs who filled in for our back line. Best on Ground was Charlie Shepard, but thanks to the Crocs for filling in here too - the pint was well sculled by Boofy!

12 APRIL 2003 – OLD COLLEGIANS 15 v ONKAPARINGA 15

Can't remember shite about this game other than we missed a few tackles on their fast and elusive outside centre and were outpaced by the bugger down the sideline. Nick Weeks crossed the line under the posts for our second try which leveled the score with 10 minutes to go. Unfortunately, our three tries went unconverted, which could have made all the difference. Onkas also missed a penalty goal attempt with about five minutes to go. Missed opportunities cost both sides this game. Best on Ground was Mark Saiosi.

26 APRIL 2003 – PORT ADELAIDE 5 v OLD COLLEGIANS 0

It's rare that during one game, every player on a team gets the opportunity to drop the ball, kick possession away or just throw a wild pass that goes to ground - but that's exactly what must've happened for the 2's to lose against Port. With about 70% of the possession for the game, very strong scrummaging, top work in the line outs, backline moves finding big holes in Port's line and some very promising breaks in play - we weren't able to get on the score board because we dropped the f#^ing ball! Very strong defense kept the 2nd grade premiers to only one try and OC's were in the game right up to the final whistle. The whole game showed that with tighter midfield play, and some refined ball handling the 2's will be a force to be reckoned with. Good work Peter 'Crossy' Cross who was Best on Ground but failed to stick around for his pint (which was well necked by Bernie).

DIVISION 3

5 April 2003 – Brighton 0 v Old Collegians 38
12 April 2003 – Old Collegians 10 v Onkaparinga 3

DIVISION 4

5 April 2003 – Burnside v Old Collegians
12 April 2003 – Roseworthy v Old Collegians
26 April 2003 – Port Adelaide 34 v Old Collegians 0

WOMEN'S

The Frocs's season has commenced, with Tiana Hume at the helm in the role of team Captain and (cousin) Imogen Hume as Vice (and Forwards) Captain. Their first outing from the year was a scratch match against the combined Port Adelaide/Woodville team on the 27th April, which the Frocs won 27 to nil. The women's league is still hoping for a fifteen aside competition this year, and both teams turned up with 13 (but played only 11 aside). The scrums were pretty appalling, largely due to the inexperience of the Wortville front row, but every one of the Frocs played an excellent game, with many putting in performances which surpassed anything they achieved last year. Kate Reynolds' spectacular efforts in the Sevens were proved not to be just a fluke - she scored a magnificent try down the wing, helped set up another and made good ground whenever she got the ball, brushing tacklers aside with ease. Bob's kicking was great and Tara's first game of Rugby saw her stop any attempt the opposition made to break through our centres. Let's hope this trial game heralds a great year for the girls.
