SCRUMBAG

Thanks to Hammer, Czez and Boof for organizing our Beers and Burgers day during the competition bye on the Queen's Birthday weekend. In addition to hovering our way through a mountain of burgers we also knocked off 10 dozen oysters, freshly shucked by the boys themselves with relatively little blood lost. Last year's Best Clubman, Mark Good, was in town and joined us for a few quiet ales. There was great rugby on all day on the big screen, with the Lions being beaten by NZ Maori and Australia thrashing Samoa. The funnel made a token appearance before some soft nellies (you know who you are) were taken home drunk and the rest of the crowd hit the town (and the tattoo parlours...)

CHAMPS SPORTSTORE

Don't forget about Champs Sportstore in Burnside Village, who sponsor Old Collegians. Champs offers a 10% discount to all players, members and families associated with our club. They stock an excellent range of footwear, clothing and equipment, including rugby balls and protective gear. Champs will also be donating items towards our raffles during the year and will be holding a number of "Old Collegians" days when we will receive a 20% discount. Champs generously donates a $20 voucher to each winner of the College Cup in 2005. Please take advantage of the discounts offered, and support our sponsor.

Don't forget that Canterbury (in the Myer Centre) and the Athlete's Foot (in Burnside) both offer all Old Collegians a 10% discount on all stock!

THE FOOTY TIPPING CHAMPION – Congratulations to Neil Bradley, who won our Super 12 Tipping Competition, closely followed by Craig De Carle, James Diack and most of Neil's own family!

Thanks again to Mark Pickard and Direct Interiors who has bankrolled the Women and Fourth Grade this year, as well as generously offering to upgrade our bedraggled kitchen. The fourth grade recently presented him with a gift of wine in thanks.

Big thanks also to Rod Essery who won shoulder pads and a rugby ball in the raffle at the Falcons game on 15 May and donated them to Old Coll! Congrats go to Rod on his recent Referee Life Membership and to George Doughty (Onkas) for his SARU Life Membership.

Thanks to some unexpected anonymous sponsorship, the club has acquired a new gas heater to keep us warm on the balcony.

Congratulations to Third Grade coach, Ray Butler, on his engagement to the lovely Diane. We assume he'll have more sense than the second grade coach and won't schedule the ceremony for a home game!

The club was broken into a couple of weeks ago – a nasty burglar kicked in a window and made off with our projector and DVD player. Fortunately, our insurance should cover it but if you happen across anyone with a projector and DVD they shouldn't have, feel free to express yourself freely. Thanks to Anne Bradley who answered the call from the security company and turned up to the club at 3am in the howling wind and pouring rain. Who knows what would have happened if the miscreants had been caught in the act – hell hath no fury like a Bradley dragged from bed!

Our fearless Director of Rugby, Barry Nichol, has been laid low by a heart condition in the last few weeks. Our best wishes go to him for a speedy recovery. His absence from the selection committee has meant more work for fellow selectors Ted Apted and Jesse James. However, his absence from the bar has given the First Grade a chance to pull ahead in the beer tally! Get better soon, Bazza.

Congratulations, and farewell, to Andre Brummer, our excellent Third Grade coach. He has flown off to Darwin for work. All is not lost – rumour has it that he'll be making an "appearance" at Ms College on 23 July. Thanks also to Ray for taking over with the Third Grade where Andre left off.

We have already reported to you about Emma Curran's wedding earlier this year to Trevor Dalitz, but we thought you'd like to see some photos of Emma, Trev and Murray! (There are more photos on the club's website)

The website often contains posts/emails from our far flung friends, including the following from the long absent Nick Walsh, and Hamish's reply:

ive just recently found out how to use a computer so its been awesome checking out this website as it brings so many fantastic memories back.who the fuck put hamish in charge i love him to bits but come on.also i read emma and jons touching story on needing good reports on him well unfortunately me and jon fall into the same bracket of person and will always find it difficult .congratulations on your engagement can i come to the wedding i promise to behave honest.phil howell i am still alive just me and flid work together everyday and he still is the most bonkers man on the planet.we both hope to come out to oz next year and have one last season before i retire yes im still a lazy bastard.this has taken me 4 hours to type and the sun is coming up really love to hear from anyone who has had the misfortune of meeting me best of luck for the season

Re your last e-mail.

Dear Nick,

Have read your message to the club site, which is a long and hard read, as you do not seem to be free in using full stops, Capital letters and any other punctuation. You must have been playing "Wag" from school for 5 years whilst English lessons were taking place. Be that as it may, I thought I would reply to your comment "Who the f??k put Hamish in charge" as it seemed to imply I may not be suitably qualified for the job of 1st XV Team Manager. How can I put this delicately. A rabid gorilla would be suitably qualified for the job of looking after our first team. Let us have a look at some of the tasks I have to do on a match by match basis.

1. Hand out jerseys before the game and collect them afterwards. - This job arises from the fact the players cannot select their own jersey before the game (Numbers confuse them) and are physically incapable of returning said jersey to the bag in the dressing room (They get lost between the pitch and the dressing rooms).
2. Maintain Valuables Bag - This is to safeguard the Players Pocket Money, given to them by Mumsie-Wumsie, as well as their Mobile Phones and Car Keys. Every week I am left with a wallet left over because some player has forgotten they had money and where it was.
3. Complete Match form for SA Rugby Union - This entails getting the signature of the match referee. The players would have no idea who that was, let alone remember their 6 digit player's code.
4. Timekeeping - letting Ben Suttell know it is 9.30pm on Saturday night and he should be home in bed and letting Cheza know it is 11pm on Saturday night and they will not let him in the Casino.
5. Game plan - Acting as intermediary between the Coach and Players after the game. In other words, I tell the players, after the game has finished, what Rob Sadler's Game Plan was and why they failed to carry out 100% of that game plan.

Nick, as you can see, the job of Team Manager only arises from the players' incompetence to look after themselves. People of my age will always tell you that when they were your age and still playing, the team never had, or required, a Manager. I hope I have explained my role. If the above explanation does not suffice to your question "Who the f??k put Hamish in charge" try this one. Get F???ed !!!!!

Yours in Rugby, Hamish

Our enormous thanks to Bob Lightfoot and Suzuki in the City who have bought spray jackets for our first and second grade players.

Thanks also go to One Steel for continuing their sponsorship of Old Collegians in 2005, with funds that paid for a set of jerseys for our Colts team.

Suzuki in the City and One Steel have both for many years been loyal and generous supporters of Old Collegians.

PHYSIO DIRECT OLD COLLEGIANS DIVISION 1

7 May 2005 - Burnside 30 v Physio Direct Old Collegians 31

15 May 2005 – Woodville 14 v Physio Direct Old Collegians 36

The Firsts played Woodville at Gleneagles Reserve on 14th May and defeated the home team comfortably 36-14, holding them scoreless in the second half after we had struggled to keep pace with some gutsy play from their forwards and inside backs before half time. We scored six tries in the match, earning a much needed bonus point that should assist our immediate goal of securing fourth spot on the premiership ladder, after an unimpressive start to the season.

Woodville took possession of the ball in the opening minutes of the game, controlling it adeptly in phase-play inside our 22. Our defence proved adequate enough to stave off any real danger to our line at this stage, and eventually we forced play into opposition territory, gained momentum and scored the first try. Undeterred, Woodville replied with more tight, aggressive action from their pack. Their efforts found success when they scored a try, duly converted. We regained our 5-point lead by scoring a converted try very soon after the restart, but squandered our advantage by giving away two penalty kicks in quick succession that helped Woodville keep the ball and score their second converted try. Throughout the first half, we won our share of set play. Our lineouts were good and we matched our opponents in the scrums. However, we were seldom able to take full advantage of our chances in general play because we failed to keep proceedings tight at the breakdown and because we didn't combine skilfully enough to build momentum. A penalty kick took us to a lineout deep inside Woodville's 22 where our throw went to the back of the lineout and we scored a try that gave us a 17-14 lead at half time. The first ten minutes of the second half saw play continue in much the same vein as before, but then we gained the upper hand and controlled matters for most of the remainder of the game. We retained the ball for long periods, held most of the territory and made our set pieces work well in attack with timely, accurate passes, in rushes that involved backs and forwards combining closely. One promising movement ended with a knock-on where there were no defenders ahead ten metres from the goal line, but we soon made amends with a similar foray and held the ball this time to score a try between the goalposts. Colls continued to outplay Woodville and scored two more excellent tries, winning the match by 22 points. Our team has much work ahead to win enough games to qualify for finals, but showed promise in this match that we might succeed.
